It’s Time to Ratify CEDAW!

To the United States Senate,

The record number of women representing the U.S. in the Senate is truly historic - a strong sign that the American public wants women’s rights to be a high priority. Now is the time for the United States to uphold its role as a global leader in standing up for women and girls by ratifying the Convention of the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women, also known as CEDAW. We urge you to reaffirm America’s proud bipartisan tradition of promoting and protecting human rights and make ratification of this critical treaty a priority in the 113th Congress. The men and women who represent Americans in the U.S. Senate know better than anyone about breaking through barriers. Let’s all keep breaking barriers, not just for American women but for all women worldwide.
